Transcribe each line of text on the portion of the page you choose to transcribe, enclosing each line separately in an opening and closing "line" tag, like what you see here. Try to capture additions (insertions) and deletions (cancellations). An example would be something like this: The mass of ~~mankind~~ men lead lives of quiet desperation. Replace the words "strikethrough" and "above line" with other terms of your own as appropriate. Just be consistent. Use the handShift element for insertion that are in pencil. If they're in the Same ink used for the main text, you can omit this step. You're sure to find this work very fun.
